

"High Fives, Cow Magnets, and Whimmydiddles", A Downhome Guide to Making Science Relevant and Fun.

The book is filled with teaching strategies, ideas for assessments, and tried and true techniques to make the student responsible and accountable. There are over 150 experiments that work, 30 patterns in the appendix to make many of the items in the book, and 100 pictures of my students and I modeling the strategies and experiments. Sprinkled throughout, the reader will find a good deal of wit and humor as only a true Irish overseas military dependent brat can produce. The 175 page document is easy reading and contains ideas that can be used in classrooms the next day. "High Fives, Cow Magnets, and Whimmydiddles" is also great for home schooled children, private schools, Montessori schools, and anyone interested in getting ideas for science projects.
